A date with Lavender

Lavender is a flowering plant in the mint family that's easily identified by its sweet floral scent. It's believed to be native to the Mediterranean, the Middle East, and India, with a history dating as far back as 2,500 years. Historically, the ancient Egyptians made use of lavender during their mummification process by embalming the corpse with perfume and the ancient Greeks, on the other hand, used lavender to treat insomnia and ease back pain. Currently, lavender is still considered a magical plant loved for its medicinal properties. It can reduce menstrual pain, improve sleep, reduce blood pressure and heart rate, and has a positive effect on one's mood!

Let our lavender candles and rooms spray take you on a wellness journey with a luscious floral scent that is unforgettable.
